

CATHCART SAYS LANE MAY HAVE CASH FOR LU'AU

City and County Attorney Holds That Appropriation By Supervisors is Quite Legal

On an opinion from City Attorney Cathcart holding an appropriation of $2000 by the supervisors to defray the expenses of the mayor's luau to the congressional party as being legal, the board of supervisors last night passed the resolution making the appropriation.

The opinion of the city attorney is as follows:

"Honolulu, Hawaii, June 2, 1915.
"Opinion No. 168.
"To the Honorable Mayor and Board of Supervisors of the City and County of Honolulu.

"Gentlemen:
"You have submitted to me the question of the legality of the appropriation proposed to be made by Resolution No. 126, for the entertainment of members of the Congress of the United States, visiting Honolulu, at a luau given on the 4th day of May, 1915.

"As the board is authorized to appropriate $2000 for the entertainment of distinguished visitors, under the provisions of Act 147 of the Session Laws of 1915, the fact that the entertainment was given prior to any appropriation, will not, in my opinion, affect the legality of this appropriation.

"Act 86 of the Session Laws of 1915 is not a limitation on the power of the board of supervisors to appropriate money to pay a just claim against the city and county, when such claim is one authorized by law. This act is penal and confined to the prohibitions therein contained. It does not affect the power of the board to recognize and pay such claims as are within the authorized powers of the board.

"The board has power to appropriate money to pay the claim here presented, as specific authority is given, under the law first cited, to expend money to the amount of $2000 for such purpose.

"I, therefore, consider that the appropriation made by Resolution No. 126 can now be made properly and legally.

"Very truly yours,
"JNO. W. CATHCART,
"City and County Attorney."

CHRIST'S COMING IS NOT FAR AWAY SAYS A. M. BRODIE

Kansas Minister, Well Known
Here, Believes That Some People Will Not Die

"My judgment is that there are some in this congregation who will live to be 'changed,' in a moment, in a twinkling of an eye and shall never die."

A wondering audience heard Dr. A. M. Brodie, pastor of the First Presbyterian church at Wichita, Kansas, and well known in Honolulu, make the above statement at the close of a Sunday night address recently.

In a previous address Doctor Brodie said that "it would look as if the coming of Christ was not very far away at this time."

This was the basis of his prediction that there were some in his congregation who would not die. The Wichita Beacon reports Doctor Brodie's address as follows:

"The minister was preaching on the plan of the ages as recorded by Paul in Revelations and by Daniel. He told his audience that a study of God's plan led him to believe that the time for the 'first resurrection,' prophesied by Paul and Daniel as predicting the return of Christ, was near. The address was a week ago was on the prophecy of Paul.

The struggle in Europe, the rapid rise of the United States and accompanying social conditions, Doctor Brodie said, answered to the events which are to precede, according to the prophecies, the first resurrection.

In striking manner, the minister compared events of the last decade with prophetic statements of Daniel and Paul. He made his meaning clear by diagrams on a large blackboard set up on the leather pulpit seat. On both Sunday nights, his first statements startled his audience and caused a buzz of whispered conversation. Then this subsided to an awed silence. When the minister finished the address of last night, he said:

"And may He come quickly."
"The large audience went out, still silent, profoundly impressed. Few broke this silence until after they had left the church. Then there were wondering expressions like:

"Do you believe that?" and "What do you think of it?"

"Several businessmen active in Wichita affairs stood on a corner near the church and talked about the sermon for a few minutes after last night's service. Doctor Brodie has said the first resurrection—when, according to Paul and Daniel, the followers of the Nazarene would be 'caught up to be with Him' suddenly, unexpectedly—seemed to be at hand.

He had said that businessmen would be taken from their offices, housewives from their homes. "Two men shall be in the field, the one shall be taken and the other left," quoted the minister. "Two women shall be grinding together; the one shall be

DIVERS UNDER WATER NEARLY THREE HOURS

Crilly and Drellishak are Busy
Plugging Holes in Lost Submarine—May Dive Again

For two hours and three-quarters this morning Divers Crilly and Drellishak worked round the sunken F-4, plugging up holes in the hull.

This is the longest period of underwater work that has been attempted during the present salvage operations and it meant hard labor for the divers. The handling of the big canvas mat made on the Maryland and designed to cover one of the holes in the submarine proved very difficult. A wooden block taken down to plug one of the broken places proved too small and another will have to be made.

There will be one, or possibly two more days of diving, before everything below water is as tight as it can be made. After that there will be nothing to do but wait for the completion and arrival of the steel pontoons from Mare Island.

Naval Constructor J. A. Furer, and Fred Buss, master rigger, who has been the right hand man to Lieut. Smith ever since the salvage work started, sailed in the Sierra this morning. They will superintend the building of the pontoons, with which it is hoped to finally bring up the submarine.

"It's hard to say how long this work will take," said Mr. Furer, just before going aboard. "I'd be much surprised if I got back inside of six weeks, however."

Everybody aboard the Maryland is wondering how soon they will get sailing orders. The "dope" is that now submarine work is at a standstill the cruiser will be sent to San Francisco to escort the K class submarines back here in July, in company with the cruiser Colorado. It seems probable that the Maryland will sail about the middle of next week.

CLEMONS AGAIN RULES AGAINST JOHN T. SCULLY

"no true bills" were returned.

"We have a right to know whether Scully has been under investigation," urged McBride.

Mr. McCann then launched into a scathing attack on the morning paper, referring to an editorial published this morning commenting on the placing of "no true bills" on secret files.

"If there is a worse gang of devils in hell than that running the morning paper, I don't see how the devil can stay there," he said. "My statement regarding the 'no true bills' was at the instigation of the grand jury itself."

"The grand jury felt that men who have been investigated and who have had no true bills returned against them would be embarrassed by having their names published."

Referring again to the morning paper's editorial he said:

"They are a most infernal set of sugar-coated slanders. It is their purpose to protect criminals for the purpose of embarrassing men whose policies do not suit the machine that is back of them."

"In an effort to make it appear that I was leaving my work here unfinished, the morning paper stated that I asked to be allowed to take my leave of absence before this case is settled."

"This shows a constant effort to hamper the proceedings of this court. I charge that these efforts of the press, particularly the morning paper, have cost this court thousands of dollars."

Mr. McCann then said that when a disagreement was reported in the last trial, he was the first to ask for an immediate third trial.

Judge Clemons said that he, too, was rather offended by the statement in the paper this morning, as it was made to appear that he was forcing the trial because Mr. McCann wanted to go away.

"My words here have been harsh," McCann continued, "but I have been bound by men who on Sunday sit with their headless faces turned to ward heaven and on week days get out and throw mud upon the men who are trying to do their duty."

taken, and the other left. The righteous dead would be risen, and the others left until the final judgment, he said.

"How long the followers of Christ would be away from the earth, Paul and Daniel do not say, said Doctor Brodie, but they would return with Christ to live a thousand years.

"When the Turk is driven out of Europe, when the Turkish empire is destroyed—that is one of the things which will precede the coming of the Christ," said the minister. "And from recent events, it would look as if that was not very far away at this time."

"During the reign of Christ here there is to be no sin, Satan is to be bound, the preacher said. At the end of the millennium reign, 'Satan is to be loosed out of his prison,' he said—then would come final judgment."

Peter Dulaney, aged 22, a student was seriously injured when an auto in which he was riding crashed into a lamp post in Central Park.

BREWERY STOCK PAYS DIVIDEND; CLIMBS TO PAR

The directors of the Honolulu Brewing and Malting Company have declared a special extra dividend of 50 cents per share, payable June 15, the disbursement presumably having been made from the funds which the former president, C. G. Bartlett, was forced to refund to the brewery treasury at the time the minority stockholders took legal action against him late in April.

In addition to the extra dividend the directors passed a resolution fixing the monthly dividend rate for the rest of the year at 25 cents. The monthly dividends for the rest of the year together with the extra dividend put the stock on a 10 per cent basis, and it sold at par and half a point above at between board sales within the last 24 hours.

The company has 25,000 shares of a par value of $20 each. The special dividend totals $12,500, and the monthly dividends between now and December 31 will come to $37,500.

DOCTORS WILL FIGHT ON NARCOTICS

The Medical Society of Hawaii, at a meeting in the capitol building last night, gave unanimous endorsement to the Harrison Anti-narcotic act and members individually promised to give all assistance possible to Collector of Internal Revenue Haley in the enforcement of the act.

Collector Haley, and Ralph Johnstone, his assistant, addressed the gathering on the new act. This law went into effect March 1, 1915, and as it is a new federal statute it supercedes all local laws. It makes it compulsory for physicians to write prescriptions for narcotics on blanks obtainable at the collector's office, and a record of all purchases of narcotics must be kept, both by the physicians and by the druggists filling the prescriptions.

WUDAN CLAIMS PRICE IS SET UPON HIS HEAD

Once more the Chinese of Honolulu are discussing with considerable excitement the question of passports and the right of the local Chinese consul, Tzu-Woohuan, to deny the passports to members of the Nationalist party. The matter reached a crisis this week when Col. Gen. D. J. Wudan applied for a passport to leave for the mainland in the Sierra today.

Upon first application Wudan declared the consul told him to return the following day (Wednesday). When the Nationalist appeared next day with his witness, and armed with photographs, Consul WOODMAN is said to have told him to wait a reply to the cable for advice sent to the Chinese minister at Washington. Wudan did not leave by the Sierra today but he hopes to get away by the next boat.

"I am a student," says Wudan. "I intend to study law in America, and have a right to come and go as I please. If the consul does not give me a passport, regardless of the advice from the minister at Washington, I am sure the immigration officials here will allow me to go."

"There is a price on my head in China now," said the revolutionary general today. "When I was a student in Japan there were always a few Japanese detectives protecting me personally, just as Dr. Sun requires a personal bodyguard to protect him from the hired murderers of Yuan Shih-kai."

BOY SCOUTS!

Honolulu, June 5, 1915.

Scouts Alert!
The Kamehameha Day celebration committee has again asked us to "standby" and assist them as we did a year ago.

All scouts will report in full uniform at 8 o'clock on the morning of June 11 at the Palace grounds. Duties will be to distribute programs, serve ice water, render first aid, preserve lines and act as guards and messengers.

As soon as the morning exercises are over, each scoutmaster will dismiss his troop or return with them to troop headquarters, reporting for duty again at 1 o'clock at the Public Baths. Duties for the afternoon will be the same as those prescribed for the morning.

Sugar Keeps Steamers Busy.
The movement of sugar from plantations along the coast of Hawaii to Honolulu is keeping several inter-island coasters busy. The Mauna Kea, returning from the Big Island today, passed the Kahala at Paipaku today, bringing sugar for the Alaskan. The Niihau was moored at Honolulu, the Waialeale was completing cargo at Honolulu and will return to Honolulu with cattle.

The steamer Maui was taking cattle at Mahukona for delivery at Honolulu. The Mauna Kea brought a general cargo and some live stock. It will return to Hawaii this afternoon. Purser Phillips reported the following sugar awaiting shipment to the east and west coasts of the mainland: Olua 2500, Waialeale 6000, Hawaii Mill 2800, Hilo Sugar Co. 4800, Onomea 8600, Pepeekeo 6400, Honoumuli 5500, Hakalan 3000, Laupahoehoe 28,483, Kailiki 5030, Kukaia 10,944, Hamakua Mill 9887, Paauhau 1000, Honokaa 13,000, Punaluu 10,325, Honoupa 4300 sacks.

The player-piano ordinance, passed third reading by the supervisors yesterday. The ordinance has been installed in the public halls. Supervisor Horner voted against the player-piano ordinance because he declared the policy of the board had been violated in the delivery of the piano before the money to pay for it had been appropriated. A minute later Horner's ordinance to appropriate $1000 to pay for auto plates came up and Supervisor Arnold then reminded Horner of his violation of the policy Horner had complained about a minute before.

The case of Paradise Keawehaku, indicted by the federal grand jury for a statutory offense, has been continued until Monday morning at 10 o'clock for arraignment. In the meantime Judge Clemons will pass on a question of law regarding interpreters being allowed defendants, especially in the matter of translating indictments.

Twenty-eight youthful newspaper sellers sang, whistled and cheered outside Juvenile Judge W. L. Whitney's office this morning. Inside Judge Whitney smoked—and smiled. It was as happy a day for him as it was for the boys, he said. The boys had been released from probation, which was the reason for their joyousness.

Michael Cagana, of Pompton, N. J., died, in ratson, N. J., as a result of injuries received in an explosion in the cap manufacturing plant of the Du Pont Powder Works.

MAY GIVE BOARD DIRECT CONTROL OF CHARITY FUND

Special Meeting to Consider Change in Constitution Will Be Held on Monday

Upon the call of J. R. Galt, president of the Associated Charities, 240 members of the association will meet in the Chamber of Commerce rooms Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock to consider a proposed change in the constitution, and hear the reports for the past five months. If the amendments suggested by the board of directors, after a meeting yesterday, are adopted, the board will hereafter have direct control of the finances of the charities.

Among the reports to be read will be the one by Miss Margaret Bergen. Miss Bergen will report that the association has cared for 317 families, numbering 789 individuals, since January 1. During the month of May 146 families and 413 individuals were given attention by the association. Twenty-five societies are working in co-operation with the Associated Charities in Honolulu, including the following: Full Gospel Mission, Palama nurses, Salvation Army, U. S. District Court, Portuguese Charitable Society, Board of Health, Palama Settlement, Sheriff, Prisoners' Aid Society, government dispensary, Salvation Army, Palama dispensary, government dispensary, Castle home, Century Union church, hospital, Lanakila hall, Palama nurses, Leahi home, Immigration station, King's Daughters' home, British Association, Seamen's Institute, probation officer, Catholic Ladies Aid Society and the Hawaiian Relief Society.

The report, summarizing the work, continues:
Visits to or in behalf of families: 202; applicants interviewed in office, 224; friends consulted in office, 147; meetings of rehabilitation committee, 4; attendance of rehabilitation committee, 63; total number of registrations, 1887; amount of relief given, $216.85.

Akelihi, a Hawaiian girl 16 years of age, died at the Queen's hospital today from burns received when a stove exploded at her home in Aala lane two weeks ago.

Lee Yau was convicted at district court today of maintaining a chafin lottery. Judge Monsarrat fined the Chinese $250 and costs, from which decision he appealed to a higher court. The defendant was arrested by the city detectives.

A trio of Filipinos, charged with picking pockets, were arrested by the police last night. P. Tapon, A. Montaya and E. Peres were brought before District Magistrate Monsarrat this morning. Two of the men were given six months and Peres was sent to the reef for eight months. According to the Hilo police he is an old offender and has served time in prisons on Hawaii.

On condition that they leave the territory, which they did yesterday in the United States transport Sherman, George Jackson and S. H. Rollins, two ex-soldiers sentenced to six months each for second degree larceny, were pardoned yesterday by Acting Governor Wade Warren Thayer.

Rescued from their waterlogged and dismantled vessel, Captain J. B. Gerries and eight men comprising the crew of the American schooner R. P. Pendleton, were brought into Baltimore on the steamer Megrez, which picked them up.

SHOW VAST FLOW OF WATER FROM SOUTH PORTAL OF WAIHOLE BORE

Mayor and Supervisors Guests of Jorgensen—See Details of Engineering Feat

An observation of the south portal of the Waihole tunnel was the treat given yesterday by Jorgen Jorgensen, the contracting engineer, to the mayor and supervisors, with other guests, following up the visit of a similar party to the north portal on Wednesday.

From the large but idle power plant installed by Mr. Bishop, the former engineer of the company, at a cost of $140,000, the party was conveyed into the mountains upon the railroad, seven miles long with maximum grade of 7 per cent, to the south portal situated at an elevation of 725 feet above sea level. The engine is of the mountain-climbing type with rotary drive.

Waialeale gulch through which the track winds presents exceedingly beautiful scenery, although less picturesque than that on the windward side. Instead of the sharp peaks on the weather side of the ridge, graceful domes wooded to the summit form the skyline.

A short distance from the top the line passes a rock-crushing plant to serve the cementing work in the tunnels. At the portal are the air compressor for the drilling, the electric hauling motors, cable traction mechanism and other machinery, including a device for making tin cartridges to protect the dynamite charges from water.

Besides a rushing torrent of water going to waste under the floor of the main tunnel, a 20-inch steel pipe stretching like a huge serpent over the bluff, near the mouth of the tunnel, carries an immense volume of water over an adjacent ridge to the cane fields of the Oahu Sugar Co. For the present this water is discharged into the old Ahrens ditch. When the main tunnel is completed its output of water will be carried off by twelve lateral tunnels for distribution in the fields, their aggregate length being 19,000 feet. From the ends of the subsidiary tunnels open ditches totaling three miles in length will extend, together with enormous siphons to carry the water across the high-banked gulches. At a distance of 100 feet from the mouth the south portal will be dammed up to divert the water into the distributing tunnels.

Measuring stations will be established in the main tunnel—one at the boundary line between government and Bishop Estate lands under the Waihole ridge and another close to the south portal, whereby the amount of Bishop Estate water to be paid for will be determined.

Owing to the danger of broken skulls from the elevation of the track, Mr. Jorgensen would not take the risk of sending his guests to the head of the drive. They were taken on the trolleys, however, for a distance of 1600 feet into the first distributing tunnel. With the aid of lanterns they were enabled to inspect the roof and walls, which, with the exception of short portions through solid rock, are constructed of masonry and cement.

After being treated to a toothsome luncheon in the bunkhouse, the party was returned over the railroad to the starting point. Here the autos were taken to the ditch line at Kipapa gulch, where the party took a walk through a portion of the ditch which has been cemented, also into the tunnel as far as the first crosscut where the bottom is now being lined. Work is being rushed there in order to have the water now running to waste turned on to the land that is undergoing preparation for cane to be planted July 1—new land that has never before been under cane cultivation. A visit was made to the siphon in Kipapa gulch.

From the summit of the gulch a bird's eye view was taken of possible routes for the Honolulu water supply pipe line from different points where it is hoped vast resources may be tapped in the Koolan range.

Besides Mayor Lane and Supervisors Ahia, Arnold, Hollinger, Horner, Logan and Shingle, those who took the greatly enjoyed jaunt were Delegate Kalaniano'le, Jorgen Jorgensen, J. T. McCrosson, E. A. H. Watson, City Engineer L. M. Whitehouse, John Watt, J. M. Riggs, Robert R. Belser, J. A. Balch, William Lucas and Eben Gibb. Messrs. Whitehouse, Ahia, Lucas and Logan left the party at the end of the railroad and went on a visit of inspection to Waimea bridge, which is in a bad condition and must soon be reconstructed.

MAKES PROMISE TO HEED BUYING RULE IN FUTURE

City Engineer Whitehouse promised the board of supervisors in a communication read before that body last night, that he would not purchase any material in the future except through the city purchasing bureau. Whitehouse had been accused of issuing an order in his department to disregard the purchasing agent.

A resolution introduced at a previous meeting called upon the city engineer to furnish the board with a list of the persons to whom Whitehouse has loaned city machinery. Following is Whitehouse's list:

"In March, Mrs. C. M. Cooke had the use of two rollers for ten days, and the use of two trucks and three trailers for five days, on her driveway at her residence at Luakala.
